Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm will master catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell the 50 cent size. Ely Brothers, 55 Warren Street, New York.
The Balm is used without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. Ely's Cream Balm contains no cocaine, mercury nor other harmful drugs.

The Power of Habit.

After having been a faithful devotee of the automobile two years or more Mr. Bragdon suddenly was seized with a violent fancy for motor boats. "A beautiful river runs by this town," he said. "Why not have some enjoyment out of it? In a motor boat you don't have to dodge policemen and rural constables."

So he bought one, took a day's instruction in the art of managing it and keeping the machinery in running order and started out on his first trip with it one bright morning in July.

It was late in the afternoon when he returned home. He came in by the back way. His clothes were water soaked, and he had a generally limp and bedraggled appearance.

"For pity's sake, Alfred," exclaimed his wife. "What has happened to you? Did the boat upset?"

"No, Lucy," he answered. "Don't say anything about it and I'll tell you. The boat's all right, but when I had been out on the water an hour or two something went wrong with the motor."

"Well?"
"Well, before I—er—knew what I was doing I was over the side of the boat and trying to get under it to fix the thing."

A Shrewd Doctor.

"This kind," said a doctor, "happened in France two or three centuries ago. In the days when public criers were always in evidence. There was a physician of Montpellier who used to go from place to place to practice the healing art. He employed a very ingenious trick to help him on his way. When he came to a town where he was not known he pretended to have lost his dog, which he declared was a very valuable animal, and ordered the public crier to roam about, beat loud on his drum and offer a reward of 25 louis to whoever should bring the dog to him. At the same time the crier was directed to mention all the titles and academic honors of the doctor as well as his place of residence. Of course it happened that the doctor was not long in becoming almost the sole topic of talk in the town. The people made up their minds that he must be a famous physician as well as a very rich one, as he could offer 25 louis for finding his dog. You might reasonably judge that the dog was never found, but plenty of patients were."

Winning a Jurymen.

It is related of Lachaud, the most famous of French criminal lawyers in the last century, that in pleading a certain case he perceived that one of the jurors seemed to be hostile to him and his argument.

In the faces of all the other men in the box he saw with his practiced eyes that his oratory or his shrewdness was having its effect, but this man, in spite of all Lachaud could do, remained frowning, suspicious, obdurate.

Lachaud continued with his work, however, and presently saw that his opportunity had come. It was a hot day, and a ray of sunlight had penetrated a crevice on the curtain and was shining on top of the head of this jurymen, who was quite bald. The lawyer paused in his argument and addressed himself directly to the court.

"If your honor would please," he said, "to order that the curtain in yonder window be lowered a trifle I am sure that the sixth jurymen would appreciate it."

This sign of watchful attention won the obstinate jurymen's heart and Lachaud's case.—New York Tribune.

Walking on Your Hat.

"Nothing is wasted in this house" is the proud remark which you may often hear from the lips of an expert housekeeper. It is a boast, however, that few people could really justify. Take the case of a woman's derby hat. In the majority of instances this discarded article of headgear finds its way to the rubbish heap or perhaps into the hands of a passing tramp. If only people were aware of the fact, the most excellent felt soles for the inside of their boots and slippers are thus being discarded. These soles can be cut from the sides of an old hat and are much more comfortable than the ordinary cork ones.

The Japanese and Their Prisoners.

The Japanese have a rather kindly way of treating prisoners who have not yet been convicted. The regulation prison dress is a kind of strawberry red colored kimono, but men on remand wear light blue as a sign that, although under strong suspicion, they have not yet been found guilty. When prisoners in this class have occasion to pass through the public streets curious extinguisher-like baskets are placed upon their heads.—Wide World Magazine.

Way to Marital Happiness.

"Marry a bright woman for success and a pretty one for happiness," advises a student of the problem. Also one who can cook for the benefit of the digestion might be advisable, but the pesky laws limit you to one.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Penholder.

He had lent her his typographic pen, and she commenced to write a letter. She—Oh, it writes beautifully. I declare I'm in love with this pen. He—I'm in love with the holder. She saw the point.

His Bluff Called.

"My dear, you grow prettier every day."

"And shabbier, Jehn. Compliments are all very well, but I'd like to see a little ready cash occasionally."

Confidence is a plant of slow growth in an aged bosom.—Chatham.

WHAT COLORS TELL.

The Way the Spectroscope Reads the Sun and Stars.

When one lights a common sulphur match in the dark it is worth while to notice what happens. First, its phosphorus gives out faint yellow rays, and almost at the same time the sulphur begins to burn with bluish beams.

As yet the flame yields little light. In a moment or two the wood of the match takes fire, and then a stream of clear white light pours forth. Each of the materials of the match—its phosphorus, sulphur and wood—has shone in burning with a color of its own.

In a street lighted by electricity and gas the eye detects at once the difference between the white rays of the one and the yellow beams of the other. If nitrate of strontia is set on fire we have a splendid red flame. Filings of copper burn with a glow of greenish blue, while a fine, pure blue is had when filings of zinc are ignited. These and other such substances furnish the maker of fireworks with his materials.

Rockets, roman candles and bombs all derive their beauty from the special tints which attend the combustion of their ingredients. And any one who has once seen the colors peculiar to common salt, iron or antimony as they trace themselves on the evening sky will always know what is aflame when he sees those colors again.

Sir John Herschel was the first to understand that colors of this kind tell a wonderful story. He will know how the stars varied in tint—that Aldebaran was ruddy, Arcturus yellow and Sirius, the most glorious of all, white. Might not the colors of a body aflame, whether on earth or in the sky, really be telling us of what that body was composed?

His suggestion was taken up, and its fruit is that marvel of ingenuity, the spectroscope. One of its principal parts is a prism employed to break up the hues. These hues, which are divided by many dark lines, make known to us that the sun and stars are built of such materials as compose our own globe.

Yet more, they tell us what kind of atmosphere surrounds them and, most astonishing of all, give us the rate at which a remote star is moving toward or from the tiny orb we inhabit.—New York Herald.

NEW YORK WAITERS.

They Spoiled the Appetite of the Transplanted Citizen.

"These New York waiters have got on my nerves," said a transplanted citizen from a smaller town. "Dining in the magnificent hotels and restaurants would be a joy if some one would kindly remove the waiters while you eat. I can think of nothing but the big, black bazzards that hover over your head in Florida."

"There are so many waiters standing around, all in black, and they look so big and get their faces or their hands so close to you and your dinner that you feel like throwing the china at them. When your waiter has disappeared a smaller edition keeps right after you, filling your glass, removing dishes, giving you more butter, and if you look away from him the head waiter has his eye on you."

"The most maddening thing of all to me is the way the waiter orders your dinner for you. One took me in hand the other night, and I let him have his way just to see what he would do to me. I hate fish, but he averred that fish was the best thing I could eat and tempt me. He brought it and, ye gods, it was fish all greasy with a dope made of cheese and mushrooms that about finished me; but, fortunately, he only let me take two bites when he whisked my plate away and set down a salad that had several kinds of fruit laid to lettuce leaves, with strips of red and green peppers and French dressing over that. I barely looked at that when he took it away in triumph and gave me a cream thick with chestnuts and fruits."

"Now, I dine on rare roast beef, plain lettuce and never take dessert, so you see how near he came to suiting me. 'Come again, sir,' said he. 'Not if I'm conscious,' said I."—New York Times.

Blue Drinks.

"Champagne is golden," said a bartender, "beer is amber, claret is red, cream of mint is green, whisky is brown, punches are blue but you never, never find a drink that is blue. Doesn't the thought of a blue drink seem unpleasant to you?"

"Blue drinks could be easily made, but the public would have none of them. Nothing blue would go down with the public. Why is this aversion to blue so general? Many reasons have been advanced, but none of them is good. One is that blue, being the color of poison bottles, induces a distaste and horror."—New York Press.

Even the Hash.

Embarrassed in the fashionable restaurant by the menus written in French, the Wall street man of business exclaimed:

"Hang these froids, entrepreneurs and hors d'oeuvre! Bring me a plate of good plain hash if you've got such a thing on the premises."

"You mean an olla podrida, sir," said the waiter in a tone of dignified reproach. "And afterward?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Perhaps He Was.

One pupil whispered to the next:

"Our teacher is a regular duffer."

The professor, who had just put a question to the class, thought the boy was making a reply and said, "Come, my lad, speak up. Perhaps you are right?"—Pittsburgh.

Gave Him All the Lot.

"So that is your last word?" said the rejected one. "Very well, then, Anabella. In your presence I will end the life you have blighted."

He drew forth a small bottle labeled "Poison," drank of the contents and fell senseless at her feet. Did she sink beside him sobbing with remorse? No. She hastily left the room and in two minutes had returned and was kneeling beside him. Then she forced between his lips the following: Half a cup of turpentine, one pint of milk, a cup of warm sassafras, a tibia spoonful of aromatic ammonia, a cup of black coffee, a glass of mustard and water, a gill of vinegar, the juice of a lemon, the beaten whites of six eggs and one cup of flour and water.

"Allegion," she observed coldly as he slowly opened his eyes. "It is evident you had forgotten that I am a graduate of a correspondence course in first aid. My one regret is that, as I could not on the instant ascertain whether you had taken an acid or an alkali, I was compelled to administer all the antidotes I had learned."—London Scraps.

A Picture Romance.

It is said that one of the most beautiful ladies in French society today was first revealed to her husband on the walls of the salon. It was while visiting the salon in 1878 that the youthful Marquis de C. was struck by the childish beauty of a young girl, one of the prominent figures in a picture of a village fête. Her tumbled golden locks, her dancing blue eyes and the freshness and graceful abandon of her figure so fascinated him that he sought out the artist and learned from him that the "little witch" was the daughter of a poor peasant near Avignon, where the picture was painted. To seek out the peasant and to make the acquaintance of his fascinating daughter, child of nine summers, was soon accomplished, and the marquis lost his heart even more completely to the real than to the pictured maid. With the father's approval he had the girl educated at one of the best schools in Paris, and five years later, on her eighteenth birthday, the maid of the village fête blossomed into the still more lovely Marquise de C.

Ivory Jelly.

The jelly was singularly pale. It almost resembled junket.

"It is Ivory Jelly," said the invalid. "My English cousin sent me a case of it from Sheffield."

"But why is it called Ivory jelly?" they inquired.

"Precisely because it is made of ivory. A third of England's ivory goes to Sheffield, and in the process of grinding and cutting it for knife handles, and so forth, a lot of ivory dust remains, a fine dust, similar to the best flour. Of this the Sheffield folk have made jelly for many years."

"The jelly for some reason is nourishing, extremely so. The doctors prescribe it for the anemic. And of late a Sheffield firm has taken to manufacturing it on a large scale. Sheffield Ivory jelly is now on the market."

"Out of courtesy to my cousins I tried it. To my surprise I found it good. My doctor, sampling it, found it good too. He told me to take the whole case."—Buffalo Express.

An Interesting Book.

A French marquis whose country house is crowded with guests during the autumn season hit upon the original idea of placing a register at the disposal of his visitors in which to record their desires and criticisms. The pages of the richly bound book soon began to be covered with notes such as:

"Count de R. still owes 25 louis. He knows to whom."

"The green peas yesterday were burned."

"Baroness M. flirts—unfortunately not with me."

The marquis has withdrawn the register.

Parents' Hairs and Heirs.

It is possible to predict from the hair of parents the form of their children's hair. Two blue eyed, straight haired parents will have only blue eyed, straight haired children. Two wavy haired parents may have straight, wavy or curly haired children, but the chances of curly hair are slight. Two curly haired parents may have children with either straight, wavy or curly hair, but the proportion of curly haired offspring will probably be large.

—American Naturalist.

The Bolster.

The crusaders are said to have brought home with them the bolster, and, according to Dr. Cantlie, their wives in ignorance of the only rational way of using the article (i. e., lengthwise as a support for the back of a person when lying on his side and not knowing what else to do with it, put the bolster where it is still found on the beds of those who have not learned the wisdom of discarding it altogether—under the pillow.—London Chronicle.

Truth in a Turkish Bath.

"Judge," said the colored witness, "I'm hungry now. I been tellin' de truth for two hours."

"Is that the longest time you ever told it?"

"Yes, sah, an' it's had me sweatin'!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Always Counting.

"Your husband says that when he is angry he always counts ten before he speaks," said one woman.

"Yes," answered the other, "I wish he'd stop it. Since he got dyspepsia he seems nothing but a class in arithmetic."

Senator Perkins Will be Returned to Washington

At the joint Republican caucus, held in Sacramento Thursday night Senator Geo. C. Perkins received the unanimous endorsement of his party in both Houses of the Legislature to succeed himself as U. S. Senator from California.

The reformers and insurgents made no showing whatever, and as predicted in these columns months ago Senator Geo. C. Perkins will go to Washington for another four years term.

He has already served sixteen years with wisdom and ability and has been an honor to his State.

Relief for the Stricken Cities and Towns of Italy.

With their usual generosity the people of Sonoma Valley are responding liberally to the Red Cross Fund to aid the stricken cities of Italy which were destroyed by earthquake, fire and tidal wave on Monday of last week.

This disaster, which has all but wiped off the map over fifty cities, towns and villages on the Island of Sicily and Province of Calabria, Italy, with the loss of 200,000 lives and the destruction of millions of property, is the greatest disaster ever recorded in the world's history.

Thousands of people who were spared are left penniless and will starve to death if aid is not forthcoming from all quarters of the globe.

We are proud to say that the United States is leading all the other countries in the world in contributing to the fund to aid the survivors and more than proud that California's contribution so far has averaged over $10,000 per day ever since the disaster.

Making Good.

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good" and Doctor Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards.

A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no alcohol, no opium, no narcotics, no humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may possibly make a little bigger profit. Based on your right to have what you call for.

Don't buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for women's special ailments. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago. As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve it is unequalled. It won't satisfy those who want "humbug" for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy—one to three a day. Much imitated but never equaled.

Wise Talks by the Office Boy.

Say, fellows, when I went home the other night I found Pa sitting up waiting for me. He said, "My boy, what you said in the Index-Tribune last week was all to the good, but remember, son, the thing for you clerks to do when you go to work in a store is to be prompt to get to work on time and keep at work every minute of the time allowed for you to work. I know a young man who a few years ago started to work in a store sweeping out, dusting, cleaning windows, etc. In a few months he was selling goods, and now, after ten years of continuous work he is manager of one of the largest stores on the coast. Some clerks study to kill all the time they can. They visit with customers, stand around the front door, laugh and talk to one another and do all such things and neglect their work, and wonder why the boss don't raise their salary. Little work and big pay is all they think about. Remember, my boy, the store is a place to work in, not to have a good time in. Go to work with a will and keep at it, and your salary will be raised accordingly."

COUNTY NEWS ITEMS.

Excerpts from Our Local Exchanges of Happenings the Past Week.

Rev. Whitney P. Stanley, pastor of the Sebastopol Methodist Episcopal church, took a collection Sunday for the relief of the Italian earthquake sufferers. Something like forty dollars was raised and will be forwarded to the Red Cross Society.

A dispatch from Sacramento tells of two Sonoma county boys passing the law examination. They are Ralph Rose of Haldsburg and Dal M. Lemmon of Santa Rosa. The former was a member of the Monday class and the latter passed Tuesday.

EAT SWEDISH AND NEW BREAD

Or any other Favorite Food Without Fear of an Upset Stomach.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of a case of indigestion or dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will occasionally take a little Diapiesin after eating.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes belching, dizziness, nausea. Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), biliousness, heartburn, water brash, pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapiesin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. Each triangle will digest all the food you can eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour.

Get a large 50 cent case of Paper's Diapiesin from your druggist and start taking today and by tomorrow you will actually brag about your healthy, strong stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

FROM OPELENCE TO WANT AND MISERY

Sad Case of Family of an Ex State Senator and Daughter of Wealthy Parents.

The vicissitudes of this life are emphasized by the sad case of a family of four in their struggle for existence right here in our midst. We refer to Mr. and Mrs. John R. Spelacy and their two little boys, age four and six years.

The family came here several months ago and Mr. and Mrs. Spelacy opened a little restaurant on Napa street, but the venture proved a failure, owing to the ill-health of Mr. Spelacy, who is a victim of consumption.

The wife, in order to help support her sick husband and two little boys went to San Francisco and hired out as a domestic until a few weeks ago. This kept the wolf from the door up to last month when one of the little boys was severely burned by his clothes catching fire and the little fellow was taken to the Leix Sanitarium. About this time the father had been so dragged down by disease that he became all but helpless and the mother was forced to give up her situation in the city and return to her stricken family, since which time they have been keeping body and soul together on a monthly stipend of $19 sent to the wife by a rich relative in San Francisco.

John R. Spelacy, the head of this unfortunate family, has seen better days. In the eighties he was a prosperous business man of San Francisco and represented that city and county in the State Legislature for four years. Later on, failing health and business reverses gradually forced him and his little family out of their home of comfort and ease and reduced them to poverty and want and they eventually came to Sonoma, where their struggle for existence has continued ever since the earthquake and fire in San Francisco drove them from their home in that city.

Mrs. Spelacy, who is the daughter of an ex-Sheriff of San Francisco and who is to-day a big business man of that city, was reared in the lap of wealth and luxury and when she was married the event was one of the swell functions of the season in the metropolis.

Verily, time and circumstances have wrought a great change to the Spelacys, who in a few short years have been reduced from affluence to dire want and suffering poverty.

Mr. Spelacy and his youngest boy, the little fellow who was so badly burned a few weeks ago, were admitted to the county hospital in Santa Rosa, one day this week. The mother and the other child are still here.

Clements, and requests that our orchardists cooperate with them in this important work.

JANUARY MEETING OF CITY TRUSTEES

The Session was Devoid of Interest—Bills Ordered Paid, Etc.

The City Dads held their first meeting of the New Year Wednesday evening, a full Board being present, with Mayor Geo. Breitenbach in the chair. There were the usual number of spectators present, among the notables being Gus Hotz, ex-Mayor and erstwhile one of the rulers of the town, but who is now a reformer and a member of the "down and out club."

The meeting having been called to order, City Clerk Small entertained the Trustees and spectators with a reading from the last pages of the minute book which told all about the things accomplished at the previous meeting of the Board. It was dry reading and as an entertainer the Clerk was not a success. The agony of the reading of minutes being over, the members yawned a yawn, got down to business and passed the following bills:

S. V. Co., electric light	$43.90
F. Serpelloni, labor	2.00
L. Maffei, hauling gravel	40.00
R. Quarantoli, labor	39.00
G. S. Harris, hauling gravel	104.00
H. Costagasso, hauling gravel	29.50
S. Sebastiani, hauling gravel	36.00
C. E. Johnson, hauling gravel	46.00
P. G. Kell, labor	21.50
T. Cannobio, labor	14.50
S. H. Haven, merchandise	55.00
Wm. Trudgen, bridge contract	300.00
P. R. Davis, services	33.00
P. T. Dohring, merchandise	16.50
Mrs. J. A. Poppe, merchandise	2.20
H. H. Granger, printing	14.35
Jas. H. Albertson, salary	15.00
Mrs. L. V. Emparan, water	15.00
E. H. Johansen, labor	30.25
Wm. Green Estate, lumber	3.75
Firemen Rebate	78.00
Fairville Quarries, crushed rock	66.50
Jos. B. Small, salary, etc.	26.52

On motion of Trustee McDonnell, seconded by Trustee Bates, a warrant for $400 was ordered drawn in favor of the City Clerk to make the second payment on the stone bridge being built across Nathan's creek by Wm. Trudgen, when it will have become due.

On motion of Trustee McDonnell, seconded by Trustee Wagon, a warrant was ordered drawn for $50 to pay freight charges on crushed rock.

An insurance bid on the New City Hall, submitted by George W. Reed, was placed on file.

A communication was received from Chas. Dal Poggetto in reference to the payment of a claim of $275 against the city was also filed.

G. F. Warren and other property owners in the western suburbs of town appeared before the Board in reference to street matters, but no action was taken.

The contract with the electric light company was renewed for another month.

On motion of Trustee McDonnell, seconded by Trustee Bates, the Street Committee was instructed to repair First-street East from the Schocken corner to the Northwest Pacific railroad depot.

The Board then adjourned to meet next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The County Board of Education has promoted the following scholars of the Sonoma Grammar School from the seventh to the eighth grade: Louis Brown, Raymond Solomonson, Harry Quarantoli, Ramona Granice and Raymond Castex.

L. L. Lewis, who came near being fatally burned by a can of gasoline exploding and enveloping him in its flames, is reported to be out of danger by Dr. Leix, the attending physician. The burns suffered by Mr. Lewis were many and it took the doctor four hours to dress them Monday.

William K. Freeman and Miss Florence Aveno were married in San Francisco New Year's eve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Westhoff. The Westhoffs and Freemans recently purchased eight lots in the Mouyer Grove tract, El Verano, where they will erect a hotel and make other improvements the coming spring.

Throws Stick at Cat and Breaks Arm.

G. Perasso, an old-time resident of this place, visited the Leix Sanitarium Monday to have the bones of his left arm set, which were fractured in a most peculiar manner. The old gentleman's slumbers were being disturbed Sunday night by the "mowings" of a big tomat. Seizing a "stick of stove wood" Perasso hurled it with great force at the nocturnal disturber of his slumbers, with the result that he broke his left arm above the elbow. The result of the feline's injuries are not known. Dr. Leix set the broken arm, after which the injured man left for Santa Rosa to be treated at the county hospital. Perasso, whose bones are very brittle, less than three months ago, broke his right arm in precisely the same place and in a most trifling manner.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all druggists 75 cents. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Worthy Officials Re-Appointed by Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors on Wednesday re-appointed all the county officials whose terms expired with the first of the year.

Those who have been given new appointments include Dr. S. S. Bogle, county physician; Lou Kearney, county farmer; Hiram E. Dryden and Robert J. Arnold, janitors; C. T. Dean, night watchman; Leland R. Brooke, preparing transcripts; Stanley W. Collier, abstractor of deeds.

It has been understood from the first that there would be no change in these officials, whose services have been satisfactory in every way.

THE SUPERVISORS AND ROAD BILLS.

Adopt New Rules Whereby Roadmasters Must "O. K." Bills.

At Monday's meeting of the Board of Supervisors a new rule was adopted by the members regulating the filing of claims against the county for road and bridge work and supplies for the same.

The principal feature of the rule is that the Supervisors will hereafter present no bills except for personal service, that is to say, their per diem salary and mileage. Hereafter all persons supplying material to the county must file their own claims accompanied by their affidavits that the said bills are true and correct and a proper charge against the county.

Men who work on the roads can file and swear to their own bills if they so desire, accompanied by the "O. K." of the roadmaster under whose personal supervision the work is done, or the claim can be assigned to the roadmaster or any one else for collection.

The new rule does away with the custom in vogue in this county for many years of Supervisors swearing to bills for material used and labor performed on our roads and bridges.

The new rule was adopted by the Supervisors to protect the interests of the county as well as their own, and to prevent any irregularities as those alleged by the Grand Jury to have existed in Supervisor Armstrong's district.

Bright Scholars

The Sonoma County Board of Education completed the examination of papers of the grammar schools last Saturday. Sixty-six pupils successfully passed the eighth grade examinations and 24 failed, while 88 passed the seventh grade and 35 failed. The examination of papers embraced every grammar school in the county. The following pupils were successful in the nine districts comprised in the Sonoma Valley Union High School district:

El Verano—Edgar Gehard Hansen. Enterprise—Mary Ellen Cowan, Sonoma—Lloyd E. Hotz and Floyd G. Reed. San Luis—George Leo Millerick. Those who were successful in passing from the seventh to the eighth grade were: El Verano—Edwin Leroy Johnson. Huichica—Helen Kerner. San Luis—Eleanora Kehoe, Geo. Leo Millerick, Myrtle Schalch. Sonoma—Raymond Solomonson, Harry Quarantoli, Ramona Granice, Raymond Castex, Louis Brown.

Resisted Officer.

John D. Wagon, a well-known citizen of this place and a member of the Board of City Trustees, was arrested last Monday morning by Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan, charged with resisting an officer in the discharge of his duty. The warrant was sworn out in Justice Atchinson's court, Santa Rosa, by Elmer Luce, a deputy constable, who alleges that Wagon was trespassing on the shooting preserves of the Santa Rosa Gun Club at Merazzo, a few miles south of this place, and when ordered to submit to arrest he refused, hence the warrant and arrest.

Wagon was taken before Judge Small of this place and immediately admitted to bail in the sum of $100 to appear in Justice Atchinson's court to answer to the charge.

NOW IS BEST TIME TO TAKE.

Directions to Prepare Simple, Yet Remarkable Home Mixture.

A well-known authority on rheumatism gives the following valuable though simple and harmless, prescription, which any one can easily prepare at home:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost, and being of vegetable extraction, are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any, diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach. While there are many so-called rheumatism remedies, patent medicines, etc., some of which do give relief, few really give permanent results, and the above will, no doubt, be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time.

Inquiry at the drug stores of this neighborhood elicits the information that these drugs are harmless and can be bought separately, or the druggists here will mix the prescription for our readers if asked to.

Heart Disease and Sudden Death.

A man rushing to catch a train the other day fell dead. In this instance it is fair to assume that the strain on a weak heart might fairly be held responsible. In view of the fierce competition in life and the undue strain to which the masses of men are subjected it is of the highest importance that people known to be affected with heart disease should exercise the greatest care as to overtaxing their physical strength in view of the danger of sudden death, instances of which are so common today. Inasmuch as few people are aware of having weak hearts, a safe rule for all men over forty is to avoid the perils of haste and undue strain, as in lifting, rushing, etc. Another important factor, many people over forty indulging in excessive eating are in danger of arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, which results in sudden death from apoplexy, kidney or heart disease. To sum the matter up, people over forty must limit their table indulgence and avoid sudden and undue haste or strain if desirous of attaining a ripe old age.—New York Herald.

Made the Most of His Hats.

When Lord Milner held his first reception at Pretoria the officers and legislators were going to understand that frock coats and tall hats were expected of them. There was only one shop in the place in which silk hats were sold, and this had but four of them. The Transvaal legislators rushed off in a body to buy these four, but the hatter, not being mad, saw his opportunity in their extremity. He knew there was no time to get hats from anywhere else, so he resolved not to sell. He offered to let them out on hire at the rate of 10 shillings for ten minutes. His shop was close at hand. Four gentlemen could present themselves before his excellency. After ten minutes they must silently steal away and hand over their hired finery to another panting quartet. It was done, and the hatter still repeats dreamily as he recalls the moment of his life, "It would not have been fair to have sold them, not fair to my customers and not fair to myself."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Couldn't Feaze This One.

An instance of the careless, good natured philosophy of the negro may be seen in the little doggerel verse laughingly sung by a black farmer when at the end of a bad crop year nothing was coming to him after he had nothing to sell. He offered to let them out on hire at the rate of 10 shillings for ten minutes. His shop was close at hand. Four gentlemen could present themselves before his excellency. After ten minutes they must silently steal away and hand over their hired finery to another panting quartet. It was done, and the hatter still repeats dreamily as he recalls the moment of his life, "It would not have been fair to have sold them, not fair to my customers and not fair to myself."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"Aught's an aught, Figger's a figger, Ey'ing fur de white man An' nuffin' fur de nigger!"

Then carelessly he stuffed the bit of paper into his pocket, "You the pigeon's wing" and finally walked away to all appearances with a whimsical enjoyment of the fact that his own penniless condition corroborated the statement of his song.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Put to Flight.

The baby in arms was screaming lustily, and the man in the gray suit could not hide his irritability.

"What on earth, madam," he spluttered, "do you mean by bringing such a howling brat into a public vehicle?" "It isn't a brat," retorted the mother, with natural indignation. "And if I'm any judge it doesn't howl half as much as you did at its age, going by the looks of you!"

The man in gray wriggled uneasily under the general scrutiny. "Baby, see the ugly man?" pursued the infuriated female, pointing at him. "See the monkey-poukey, gorilla man what might take a first prize at a beauty show for the ugliest face? Baby, hush, or the ugly monkey man will!" But the sentence remained unfinished, for the man in the gray suit had bolted.—London Graphic.

Surf Birds.

That birds of the family termed surf birds in the Hawaiian Islands should leave that paradise of the Pacific to go and rear their young in the tundras of Alaska would seem to many an extraordinary proceeding, yet the turnstone and the black bellied plover and the Pacific golden plover make the long journey of about 4,000 miles thither annually.

Two Reasons.

"You mustn't play with Mr. Borum's hat, Bobby," said a young lady who was entertaining a caller to her small brother.

"Why mustn't I?" asked the youngster. "Because you might break it," replied his sister, "and, besides, he will want it shortly."

Her Great Memory.

The gift of memory was being discussed when Alice wisely said: "Mother's got a good memory. She can remember things a heap further back than any of us children can."—Lippincott's.

Prehistoric.

Little Girl—I've got a father and a mother and a grandfather. Old Gent—And how old is yer grandfather? Little Girl—I don't know, but we've had him a long time.

Advertiser!

The speedy way to market a product is to go to the advertiser, and the newspaper is the medium through which to reach all the world.—Waco Times-Herald.

Goldsmith's Actor.

Lord Nugent was one evening very eloquent to Goldsmith in praise of M. (a bad actor). "But my lord," said Goldsmith, "you must allow me to tread the stage very ill—the waddles." "Waddles?" said Lord Nugent. "Yes, he waddles like a goose. Why, you know we call him Goose M. Well, and then, you know, when he endeavors to express strong passion he bellows." "Bellows?" said Lord Nugent. "To be sure he does—bellows like a bull. Why, we call him Bull M. Well, then," continued Goldsmith, pursuing his triumph, "his voice breaks, and he croaks."

"Croaks?" said Lord Nugent. "Why, the fellow croaks like a frog. We call him Frog M." "But M. is a good actor." "Why, yes," said Goldsmith, "barring the goose and the bull and the frog and a few other things I could mention, and not wishing to speak ill of my neighbors, I will allow M. is a good actor."—Memoirs of the Earl of Nugent.

The Gypsy Life.

"Just as soon as my husband and I have $500 saved up besides our fare we are going back to England," said a woman player. "Then we are going to buy one of those gypsy wagons they have over there. They are too awfully jolly for words, don't you know. They are quite wide, have banks, a cunning little kitchen and sitting room. You wander through the country all day; then at night you stop, cook your supper, sit under the trees and sleep out in the open or in the wagon, just as you choose. Many of my artist and theatrical friends have them and just wander from place to place. It is an ideal way to live; beats houseboats or bungalows. If you have ever slept out in the open and watched the stars over your head you feel smothered in a bedroom. I played through Australia, and we went from place to place in a big wagon, sleeping out of doors at night."—New York Times.

Ballooning Among the Clouds.

It has been my lot to see in arctic regions some hundreds of thousands of icebergs close at hand, and I have always believed these to be the most beautiful objects on earth, but the clouds of the sky, close at hand, are almost as beautiful. If you mount above one of these majestic things, swiftly overtopping one by one its folds and wreaths, and if remembering how high it is you look down and see only small green patches of earth through holes in the cloud carpet below, you have a little thrill of conception of how lonely a man would feel floating away down there and not being able to see the spot where he must alight. It is a safe little thrill, however. You know that you are not going to fall. Such dizziness as some persons feel in standing near great heights on the earth is almost unknown in ballooning.—Albert White Verse in Success Magazine.

Six His Limit.

To the man who has a horse to sell considerable leeway is allowed in the matter of setting forth the animal's merits. "I've got the very horse you want," said Gideon Lane, the Bushby livery stable keeper, to one of the summer residents. "He has no bad tricks?" queried the gentleman. "So far for the fancy?" "Lauzee, yes," returned Mr. Lane heartily. "Any lady can drive him, and half a dozen children could get on his back and he'd never notice 'em. Not a trick to his name." "Ah," said the summer resident, "I don't wish a horse without any spirit." "Spirit!" echoed Mr. Lane. "Well, you just ought to see him on circus day, that's all. And I'll tell you confidentially 'twouldn't be well for too many people to get on that horse at once."—Youth's Companion.

The Jews and Thirteen.

Commenting on the thirteen superstitions in the Oesterichische Wochen-schrift, Jacob E. Ehrlich, a Jewish writer, says: "The number thirteen is surely not a bad one for us. The holy writ tells of the thirteen attributes of the Most High, and we have thirteen feast days in each year. Our great arch enemy, Haman, was hanged on the 13th of Abas. The thirteenth birthday of our sons is a day of joy because on that day the child becomes a member of the religious community. The dream of Joseph was of thirteen—the sun, the moon and eleven stars—and Jacob had thirteen sons."—Eagle.

He Might.

Old Golf Professional—Na, ye'll no make a gowfyer. Ye've begun over late and ye've over muckle potlie. But it's juist possible if ye practice hard, verra hard, for two-three years ye might—Jones (expectantly)—Yes? Professional—Ye might begin to see a glimmer that ye'll never ken the pack's merits of the game.—London Sketch.

Upward.

"Is Mike Clancy here?" asked the visitor to the quarry after the premature explosion. "No, sir," replied Costigan. "He's gone."

For good?

"Well, sor, he went in that direction."

Sarcastic.

Guest (disparagingly)—I say, waiter, how long have you been employed here? Waiter—Bout a week, sir. Guest—Oh, is that all? Then I must have given my order to some other waiter.

It is as hard to find a man without faults as it is to find a nation without faults.

Falling in Love.

I do not doubt that as the world goes on a deeper sense of moral responsibility in the matter of marriage will grow up among us. But it will not take the false direction of ignoring these our profoundest and holiest instincts. Marriage for money may go, marriage for rank may go, marriage for position may go, but marriage for love, I believe and trust, will last forever. Men in the future will probably feel that a union with their consorts on near relations is positively wicked; that a union with those too like them in person or disposition is at least undesirable; that a union based upon considerations of wealth or any other consideration save considerations of immediate natural impulse is base and disgraceful. But to the end of time they will continue to feel in spite of doctrinaires that the voice of nature is better far than the voice of the lord chancellor or the royal society and that the instinctive desire for a particular helpmate is a surer guide for the ultimate happiness both of the race and of the individual than any amount of deliberate consultation. It is not the foolish fancies of youth that will have to be got rid of, but the foolish, wicked and mischievous interference of parents or outsiders.—Grant Allen.

Knew the Sound of Wood.

There was an argument on a cricket field in a village near Nottingham, England, which interrupted the game for some time. The match was being played between the local tradesmen of the village. All went well until the bowler, who was the village constable, a man over six feet tall, sent a ball which bumped up from the ground and hit the village butcher, who was batting and who was exceedingly fat and perspiring freely, on the head. The wicket keeper, a remarkably thin and agile man, who was the village grocer, caught the ball and yelled, "Ow's that?"

"Hout!" shouted the village baker, who possessed only one eye.

"Hi say now!" roared the fat butcher, who refused to have it so. "But hit 'im on the head."

"Hi don't know where hit 'im you," responded the umpire, who was the village undertaker. "But Hi knows the sound of wood when Hi hears hit, so hout you go."

The Tricksters.

"Political tricksters always give themselves away," said a congressman. "Their methods remind me of the two men who wanted to sell their corpses for dissection. These two men, miserably clad, called on the dean of a medical college in New York. 'We are both on the verge of starvation, sir,' the spokesman said. 'We are well on in years, and it is clear that we haven't much longer to live. Would you care to purchase our bodies for your dissecting room?'"

"The dean hesitated. 'It is an odd proposition,' he muttered. 'But it is occasionally done,' said the spokesman in an eager voice. 'Well,' said the dean, 'we might arrange it. What price do you ask?'"

"Over in Philadelphia," said the spokesman, "they gave us $40."—New York Tribune.

Not So Bad as She Feared.

"George," she whispered as she crept a little closer and placed her head against his left hand, "don't you see that pocket?" "George, I want to ask you a question, a very important one. Why do you alude to papa as a pirate? Surely you must have some good reason for doing so?" "I have, indeed," responded George, with a dreamy, faraway look in his eyes. "Pirates board people, you know, and I expect your father, if my plans work all right, to eventually board me." "Oh, how clever you are, George! Do you know, I was awfully afraid you were going to get off that ancient chestnut about his being such an old freebooter, and I'm so glad you didn't, because all the fellows I've had have said that, and I was longing for something new."

A Natural Cross.

One of the most beautiful natural rock carvings in the world is the Southern Cross, on the island of Grand Manan, in the bay of Fundy. It stands at the head of a ledge of rocks jutting into the bay from the foot of one of the immense cliffs at the southern end of the island of Grand Manan. Its shape is that of an almost perfect cross.

Corroborated.

"Though many people think so who hear me play," said the long haired amateur, with studied carelessness, "I have no intention of becoming a professional musician. I play merely to kill time."

"I knew that as soon as I heard you," enigmatically replied one of his listeners.—Kansas City Independent.

Said What She Meant.

"Oh, I am so awfully ashamed of myself!" said Edith Jones to her dearest girl chum. "When Henry proposed to me last night I intended to say, 'So sudden!' but I quite lost my head and exclaimed, 'At last!'"

An Exception.

"Animals," said the teacher, "frequently become attached to people, but plants never do."

Hard to Tell.

Miss Oldgirl—Do you think Mr. Sniffkins is sincere when he writes that he loves me more than tongue can tell? Miss Peachblossom—I dare say. He's a genuine fellow, you know.
